Programme

Forum for Academic Freedom by the Alliance of Science Organisations in Germany

Supporting the Career Development of Researchers at Risk

18 – 19 March 2019, Berlin
Welcome

Dear guests,

On behalf of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, it is my great pleasure to welcome you to the 2019 Forum for Academic Freedom. Convened in cooperation with the Alliance of Science Organisations in Germany and the Scholars at Risk Germany Section, the Forum brings 250 participants from over 20 countries to Berlin to discuss the state of academic freedom in various regions of the world, foster exchange among and about scholar rescue programmes, and examine the imposing challenge of re-building sustainable perspectives for scholars who were forced from their laboratories, their desks, their homes.

At the same time, this Forum is the launch of a multi-event campaign, in which the Alliance of Science Organisations in Germany will celebrate the 70th anniversary of the Basic Law for the Federal Republic of Germany with a sequence of events. I am particularly proud that the governments of France and Germany will take this opportunity to re-confirm their joint commitment to protect the freedom of academic pursuit, and the freedom of the people who have dedicated themselves to that pursuit.

I cannot help but find it fitting that all this should take place under the name Alexander von Humboldt, an ingenious scholar, true humanist, and powerful proponent of freedom, whose legacy is recognised across the globe this year, which would have seen his 250th birthday.

Prof. Dr. Hans-Christian Pape
President
Alexander von Humboldt Foundation
Agenda of Science Organisations in Germany

The Alliance of Science Organisations is a coalition of the most important public research performing and funding organisations in Germany. It issues statements relating to research policy and funding and the structural development of the German research system.

The Alexander von Humboldt Foundation awards fellowships and research awards to outstanding researchers and fosters cooperation between foreign and German academics, strengthening the German research landscape through international exchange. Through the Philipp Schwartz Initiative, the Foundation provides universities and research institutions in Germany with the means to host at-risk researchers for a period of 24 months on a fully funded research fellowship.

The German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) is the world’s largest funding organisation for the international exchange of students and researchers. Since it was founded in 1925, around two million scholars in Germany and abroad have received DAAD funding. It is a registered association and its members are German institutions of higher education and student bodies.

The German Research Foundation (DFG) is the self-governing organisation for science and research in Germany. It serves all branches of science and the humanities. In organisational terms, the DFG is an association under private law. Its membership consists of German research universities, non-university research institutions, scientific associations and the Academies of Science and the Humanities.

Fraunhofer-Gesellschaft is Europe’s largest application-oriented research organisation. Our research efforts are geared entirely to people’s needs: health, security, communication, energy and the environment. As a result, the work undertaken by our researchers and developers has a significant impact on people’s lives.

The Helmholtz Association pursues the long-term research goals of the state and society, including basic research, in scientific autonomy. To do this, the Helmholtz Association conducts top-level research to identify and explore the major challenges facing society, science and the economy.

The German Rectors’ Conference (HRK) is the association of public and government-recognised universities in Germany. The member institutions are represented in the HRK by their executive boards and rectors. The HRK currently has 268 member institutions, in which around 94 per cent of all students in Germany are enrolled.

The Leibniz Association connects 93 independent research institutions that range in focus from the natural, engineering and environmental sciences via economics, spatial and social sciences to the humanities. Leibniz Institutes address issues of social, economic and ecological relevance. They conduct knowledge-driven and applied basic research, maintain scientific infrastructure and provide research-based services.

The Deutsche Akademie der Naturforscher Leopoldina has been the German National Academy of Sciences since 2008. It addresses key issues of particular significance for the future of society from a scientific perspective and independently of economic or political interests, shares its findings with policymakers and the public and puts these issues up for discussion on a national and international level.

The Max Planck Society is Germany’s most successful research organisation. Since its establishment in 1948, no fewer than 18 Nobel laureates have emerged from the ranks of its scientists, putting it on a par with the best and most prestigious research institutions worldwide. The more than 15,000 publications each year in internationally renowned scientific journals are proof of the outstanding research work conducted at Max Planck Institutes — and many of those articles are among the most-cited publications in the relevant field.

The German Council of Science and Humanities (Wissenschaftsrat) provides advice to the German Federal Government and the State (Länder) Governments on the structure and development of higher education and research.

Supported by

The event is a constituent part of the Philipp Schwartz Initiative of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation and the German Federal Foreign Office: www.philipp-schwartz-initiative.de. The initiative and this event have been made possible through the generous support of the following organisations:
Conference Venue

Cafe Moskau

The main venue for this year’s Forum for Academic Freedom is Cafe Moskau on Karl-Marx-Allee, in the former East Berlin. The Cafe was the centerpiece of the first socialist residential complex, built in East Berlin from 1961-1964. It served as one of seven international restaurants and was meant to symbolise the fraternal relations between the German Democratic Republic and the Soviet Union.

In addition to a restaurant serving traditional Russian cuisine, the building also included a coffee bar, a shop selling luxury souvenirs from the Soviet Union, and a late night bar in the basement. Among the patrons of Cafe Moskau at the time were not only members of the communist political establishment but also black-market dealers and spies.

In the 1980s, the building underwent major refurbishments. After German unification, it remained empty for several years until the end of the millennium. In the early 2000s, it was Berlin’s world-famous underground party scene that gave the building a new lease of life for several years. Finally, in 2007, an investor bought the venue and rebuilt it into an event location and conference center.

Many of the original features of the building from the 1960s have been preserved. One of the most striking ones is the life-size model of the Sputnik satellite above the main entrance. Also at the entrance, visitors are greeted by a mosaic depicting the “Life of the peoples of the Soviet Union”. It was added to the facade in 1964 by the artist Bert Heller.

Conference Coordination

Frank Albrecht
Programme Director
Philipp Schwartz Initiative
Alexander von Humboldt Foundation
Tel.: +49 (0) 228 833-122
Mobile: +49 (0) 160 9696 0058
Email: frank.albrecht@avh.de

Venue Map

Ground Floor
- Foyer Baku
- Registration
- Jerewan
- Suitcase storage
- Duschanbe
- Childcare
- Almaty
- Lunch
- Coffee break
- CONNECT

Upper Floor
- Riga
- Quiet Working Space
- Moskau
- Plenaries and Dinner
Programme – Monday, 18 March 2019

Pre-Conference Networking and Meetings (by invitation only)

For All Participants
- from 8:30 a.m. Registration
- Workshop with the Scholars at Risk Network (Asgabat 1+2)
- Scholars in Exile Meeting (Tallinn)
- General Assembly Scholars at Risk Germany Section (Asgabat 1+2)

For Scholars
- 9:00 a.m. Workshop with the Scholars at Risk Network (Asgabat 1+2)
- Scholars in Exile Meeting (Tallinn)

For SAR Germany Member Institution Staff
- 9:00 a.m. Workshop with the Scholars at Risk Network (Asgabat 1+2)

Forum

For all participants
- from 11:30 a.m. Registration and Networking Lunch

Conference Opening (Moskau)
- Introduction: Dr. Judith Wellen, Director, Strategy and External Relations Department, Alexander von Humboldt Foundation
- Welcome: Prof. Dr. Hans-Christian Pape, President, Alexander von Humboldt Foundation
- Opening Remarks: German-French Perspectives on Academic Freedom
  - Michelle Müntefering, Minister of State for International Cultural Policy at the Federal Foreign Office
  - H. E. Anne-Marie Descôtes, Ambassador of France to Germany

2:45 p.m. Keynote: On Academic Freedom (Moskau)
- Prof. Dr. Norbert Frei, Jena Center for 20th Century History, University of Jena

3:15 p.m. Plenary: Successful Transitions
- Prof. Dr. Nazan Maksudyan, Centre Marc Bloch, Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin and Friedrich-Meinecke-Institut, Freie Universität Berlin
- Dr. Ergün Özgür, Leibniz-Zentrum Moderner Orient (ZMO)
- Stephen Wordsworth, Executive Director, Council for At-Risk Academics (CARA)
- Robert Quinn, Executive Director, Scholars at Risk Network (SAR)
- Emily Borzcik, Acting Director, Scholar Rescue Fund (IIE-SRF)
- Laura Lohéac, Executive Director PAUSE, Collège de France
- Dr. Enno Aufderheide, Secretary General, Alexander von Humboldt Foundation
- Moderator: Dr. Barbara Sheldon, Managing Director Philipp Schwartz Initiative, Alexander von Humboldt Foundation

4:30 p.m. Coffee Break (Almaty)

For Scholars

Working towards Transitions
- A: Planning Your Career and Developing Opportunities
  - Assessing your potential, exploring opportunities, being open to different options and taking advantage of coaching is essential for successful career planning. What are important aspects? Where can you turn to for advice?
  - Dr. Christiane Haupt, Max Planck Society
  - Dr. Konnna Strebel, Helmholtz Association

- B: Turning an Idea into a Job
  - Some ideas and research results have the potential of being applied in industrial, entrepreneurial, consulting or other contexts. How can you assess your idea’s potential? Where can you turn to for advice? What are important steps you need to take?
  - Dr. Anke Soemer, Fraunhofer
  - Dr. Carsten Hucho, Paul Drude Institute, Leibniz Association
  - Dr. Rainer Döhl-Oelze, Geesthacht Innovation and Technology Center

- C: Applying for Funding
  - Major research funding organisations across Germany and the EU offer opportunities for at-risk scholars, in addition to regular funding that is available to any scientists and scholars who qualify. What are the options? What is crucial when applying?
  - Dr. Myriam Poll, German Research Foundation (DFG)
  - Dr. Hanna Wielandt, Volkswagen Foundation
  - Dr. Marion Müller, Einstein Foundation
  - Victoria Reichl, European Liaison Office of the German Research Organisations (KoWi)

- D: Understanding the German Research System
  - The German research landscape is characterised by many different types of research institutions and many different funders. What are the key points to know in order to find your way around?
  - Anne Knab, German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD)
  - Dr. Gordon Billing, German Rectors’ Conference (HRK)

- E: Knowledge Sharing
  - Host institution staff will have the opportunity to share their experience on providing support to at-risk scholars.
  - Dr. Petra Roth, Karpov Institute of Technology
  - Dr. Johannes Müller, University of Cologne

For Host Institution Staff
- Working towards Transitions

For all participants
- 6:30 p.m. Dinner (Moskau)
  - Dinner speech: Robert Quinn, Executive Director, Scholars at Risk Network
Forum

For Scholars

9:00 a.m.

A: Planning Your Career and Developing Opportunities

- Bischkek
- Tallinn

Assessing your potential, exploring opportunities, being open to different options and taking advantage of coaching is essential for successful career planning. What are important aspects? Where can you turn to for advice?

- Dr. Christiane Haupt, Max Planck Society
- Dr. Korinna Strobel, Helmholtz Association

B: Turning an Idea into a Job

- Tallinn

Some ideas and research results have the potential of being applied in industrial, entrepreneurial, consulting or other contexts. How can you assess your idea’s potential? Where can you turn to for advice? What are important steps you need to take?

- Dr. Anke Soemer, Fraunhofer
- Dr. Carsten Hucho, Paul-Drude-Institute, Leibniz Association
- Dr. Rainer Döhl-Oelze, Geesthacht Innovation and Technology Center

C: Applying for Funding

- Tallinn

Major research funding organisations across Germany and the EU offer opportunities for at-risk scholars, in addition to regular funding that is available to any scientists and scholars who qualify. What are the options? What is crucial when applying?

- Dr. Myriam Poll, German Research Foundation (DFG)
- Dr. Hanna Wielandt, Volkswagen Foundation
- Dr. Marion Müller, Einstein Foundation
- Victoria Reichl, European Liaison Office of the German Research Organisations (KoWi)

D: Understanding the German Research System

- Tallinn

The German research landscape is characterised by many different types of research institutions and many different funders. What are the key points to know in order to find your way around?

- Anne Knab, German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD)
- Dr. Gordon Bölling, German Rectors’ Conference (HRK)

For Host Institution Staff

9:00 a.m.

E: Administering the Philipp Schwartz Initiative

- Asgabat 1
- Asgabat 2
- Tallinn

Host institution staff are invited to discuss administrative aspects, such as the composition of stipends or "proof of usage" (Verwendungsnachweise)

Moderators:
- Frank Albrecht, Alexander von Humboldt Foundation
- Dr. Nina Marsh, Alexander von Humboldt Foundation

For All Participants

10:30 a.m.

CONNECT: Information and Networking Space

An opportunity for scholars, representative of host institutions, and representatives of research funding and research performing organisations to meet for individual conversations or to exchange information and experiences.

11:30 a.m.

Plenary: Regional Perspectives on Academic Freedom

- Moscow
- Tallinn
- Riga
- Vilnius
- Bischkek
- Tallinn

- China: Dr. Katin Kinzelbach, Associate Director, Global Public Policy Institute Berlin
- India: Prof. Dr. Vandana Joshi, Associate Professor of Modern History, Sri Venkateswara College, University of Delhi
- Latin America: Prof. Dr. Günther Maihold, Deputy Director, German Institute for International and Security Affairs (SWP)

Moderator: Prof. Dr. Silvia von Steinsdorff, Comparative Political Science and the Political Systems of Eastern Europe, Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin

12:30 p.m.

Keynote: Academic Freedom Index: A Tool to Promote Academic Freedom?

- Moscow
- Tallinn

- Dr. Katin Kinzelbach, Associate Director, Global Public Policy Institute Berlin

12:50 p.m.

Closing Remarks

1:00 p.m.

Networking Lunch

Post-Conference Networking and Meetings (by invitation only)

For SAR Germany Steering Group Members

1:30 p.m.

SAR Germany Steering Group Meeting

Reflection on the event and potential next steps

For SAR International Advisory Committee Members

2:30 p.m.

SAR IAC Meeting

Riga
Opening Remarks

MICHELLE MÜNTEFERING
Minister of State for International Cultural Policy at the Federal Foreign Office

ANNE-MARIE DESCÔTES
Ambassador of France to Germany

Speakers

GORDON BÖLLING
Dr. Gordon Bölling is head of section in the International Department of the German Rectors’ Conference (Hochschulrektorenkonferenz / HRK). He is responsible for university relations to such countries as the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, the Nordic Countries, and Turkey. In addition, his work focuses on the internationalization of curricula and on issues of academic freedom. Gordon Bölling holds a doctorate in English philology from the University of Cologne.

EMILY BORZCIK
Emily Borzcik is the Acting Director of the Institute of International Education’s Scholar Rescue Fund (IIE-SRF), where she oversees the administration of the IIE-SRF program, including applicant vetting, scholar placements, and the monitoring of all IIE-SRF fellowship appointments, and manages IIE-SRF’s institutional partnerships. She holds a B.A. in Social Welfare and Scandinavian Studies from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and an M.A. in International Education from New York University. Prior to joining IIE-SRF, Ms. Borzcik served with the Peace Corps in Armenia and worked in the Republic of Georgia.

CHRISTIANE HAUPT
Dr. Christine Haupt is in charge of Postdoc and Group Leader programs within the Human Resources Development & Opportunities Department at the Max Planck Society. Previously, she was a programme manager for the Talent Factory at Technische Universität München, where she also held positions in strategy and communications. She holds a PhD in Chinese Studies.

RAINER DÖHL-OELZE
Dr. Rainer Döhl-Oelze is managing director of the Geesthacht Innovation and Technology Center. He assists young researchers and technicians from the nearby Helmholtz Center in developing business plans for their own companies. With a Ph.D. in physics, he was a Feodor Lynen Research Fellow of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation at the University of Washington in Seattle and worked as Technology Consultant in a project managing agency for the Federal Ministry of Education and Research, before establishing Technology and Innovation Centers across Germany. He advises on preparing business plans, supports the founding process and provides infrastructure to start-up companies. He is board member of the Northern German Initiative of Nanotechnology and of the Association of Technology Centers in the state of Schleswig-Holstein, maintaining networks across science and business.

NORBERT FREI
Prof. Dr. Norbert Frei obtained his doctoral degree from the University of Munich in 1979. After many years as a researcher at the Institute for Contemporary History in Munich, he received a Chair for Modern History at the Ruhr-Universität Bochum in 1997. Since 2005 he teaches in the same function at the Friedrich-Schiller-Universität Jena, where he is also the director of the Jena Center 20th Century History. He was a Kennedy Fellow at Harvard University, a Fellow at the Wissenschaftskolleg zu Berlin and a Member of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton. He also served as the 2010/11 Theodor Heuss Professor at the New School for Social Research, New York. Next spring, he will be teaching as a Guest Professor at Stanford University.

Some of his numerous books have been translated into English, such as “National Socialist Rule in Germany. The Führer State 1933-1945” (1993) and “Adenauer’s Germany and the Nazi Past. The Politics of Amnesty and Integration” (2002). Most recently, he is co-author of “Zur rechten Zeit. Wider die Rückkehr des Nationalismus” (2019).

CARSTEN HUCHO
Dr. Carsten Hucho studied physics in Berlin and Augsburg. As a postdoc he worked on ultrasound investigations of phase-transitions in Milwaukee, WI (USA), and led research on magnetic vortices as well as crystal-growth of Vanadium oxides at the Paul-Drude-Institut in Berlin, where he is head of the department Technology and Transfer as well as scientific-administrative coordinator. Carsten Hucho is convinced that science is part of our culture and as such deserves high visibility in society. His activities include the establishment of a science-façade, the kick-off of the science-festival “STATE” (together with Christian Rauch), articles about science and society, panel-discussions across disciplines, and the realisation of art-science-interventions. As one speaker of the working-group for knowledge transfer of the Leibniz-Gemeinschaft, he promotes a broad approach to foster scientific knowledge within society.
Prof. Dr. Vandana Joshi is an Associate Professor of Modern History at Sri Venkateswara College, University of Delhi. She completed her doctorate in 2001 as a DAAD research fellow at Technische Universität Berlin. Her other fellowships and awards include an Erasmus Mundus distinguished visiting scholarship, a Max Planck Research Fellowship, a Charles Wallace India Trust Grant, and a Frankel Prize in Contemporary History for her dissertation. She has published a monograph, numerous journal articles and book chapters, and edited two books and one online journal. She serves on the advisory board of a DFG-funded long-term research project that aims to digitise German archival collections related to modern India, jointly undertaken by Prof. Michael Mann at Humboldt Universität zu Berlin, Dr. Heike Liebau at Leibniz Zentrum Moderner Orient, and Prof. Ravi Ahuja at the University of Göttingen. She is the editor-in-charge of ‘global history’ for Cultural and Social History, a UK-based peer reviewed journal.

Anne Knab is leader of the events team within the department of “International Research Marketing” at the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD). She organizes events for the national campaign “Research in Germany”, including consultation on Ph.D. and Post-Doc opportunities in Germany. Anne Knab graduated from the University of Bonn in Political Sciences, Sociology and Recent and Modern History. Since 2011, Anne Knab has been in charge of organizing research marketing events for the DAAD, such as Ph.D. matchmaking events, the German presence at international career fairs or online seminars for Ph.D. proposal writing.

Laura Lohéac has been the Executive Director of the ‘Programme d’Aide à l’Accueil en Urgence des Scientifiques en Exil’ (PAUSE) at Collège de France since May 2016. As an expert in international and strategic issues, Laura Lohéac held several positions at the French General Secretariat for National Defence, at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, as the advisor in charge of speeches for the Minister, at the Ministry of Defence, and at the office of the Secretariat of State for Higher Education and Research, where she established PAUSE. Laura Lohéac is a graduate of the École Normale Supérieure, the School of International and Public Affairs at Columbia University and the Paris Institute of Political Studies.

Dr. Katrin Kinzelbach is the associate director of the Global Public Policy Institute (GPPi), an independent think tank in Berlin. She also teaches human rights politics at Central European University in Budapest, where she is a visiting professor at the School of Public Policy. Her current research focuses on political persecution and on academic freedom.

For her dissertation on the EU-China human rights dialogue, Katrin Kinzelbach received the Kirber Foundation’s Deutscher Studienpreis, which honors outstanding Ph.D. research of particular value to society. She previously worked for the Ludwig Boltzmann Institute of Human Rights in Vienna, Austria, and for the United Nations at various duty stations around the world.

Prof. Dr. Günther Maihold studied sociology and political science and received his doctorate from the University of Regensburg, where he worked as a research fellow at the Institute for Scientific Policy and Public Law. Following eight years as a project manager in social policy consulting in Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama and Costa Rica and at the Department for Latin America and the Caribbean, for the Friedrich Ebert Foundation, he served as the director of the Ibero-American Institute of the Prussian Cultural Heritage Foundation in Berlin. Since 2004, he has been the Deputy Director of the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (SWP). On leave from 2011 to 2015, he held the DAAD Wilhelm and Alexander von Humboldt Chair at Mexico National University in Mexico City and El Colegio de México. Günther Maihold was a lecturer at the University of Duisburg and at the Latin American Institute of the Free University of Berlin, where he now is an honorary professor in Political Science.

Dr. Johannes Müller is Head of the Department "International Science" within the International Office of the University of Cologne. He is responsible for the Welcome Centre, the coordination of international partnership networks and research cooperation, threatened scholars support, digital internationalization and for the Cologne Global Study Program (an English-language short-term study program for intercontinental exchange students). Johannes holds an M.A. in History, Political Science and Roman Languages from the University of Cologne, and a Ph.D. in History and Civilization from the European University Institute, Florence/Italy. He teaches Contemporary German and European History at the University of Cologne. Previously, he worked for the Association "Amici della Musica di Firenze" in Italy, the Institute of European History, Mainz/Germany, the Historical Agency "Gesichtsburger Rede, Roesling & Prüfer", Cologne, and the University of Cologne Welcome Centre.

She co-founded the Association of Middle East Children’s and Youth Studies (AMECVYS) and serves on its Board of Directors. She is also one of the Managing Editors of the 1914-1918-online: International Encyclopedia of the First World War.

Prof. Dr. Nazan Maksudyan is an Einstein Guest Professor at Freie Universität Berlin and a research associate at Centre Marc Bloch Berlin. Previously, she held an EUME fellowship at Wissenschaftskolleg zu Berlin, a Humboldt fellowship at Leibniz-Zentrum Moderner Orient (ZMO), and was a professor of history in Istanbul. Most recently, she was a Philipp Schwartz fellow at ZMO.

Her research focuses on the history of children and youth in the Ottoman Empire during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, especially on gender, sexuality, education, humanitarianism, and non-Muslims. She has made pioneering contributions to her field, and her forthcoming book “Ottoman Children & Youth During World War I” adds a new dimension to the historiography of the war by exploring the experiences of Ottoman children and youth.
Dr. Marion Müller is the Managing Director of Berlin’s Einstein Foundation. She previously served as the Director of the North America Office of the German Research Foundation (DFG). Director of the DFG’s Berlin Office, Special Assistant to the DFG President and Secretary General, and a DFG Programme Manager. She was a teacher of German at Magdalen College School Oxford, a lecturer in Classics and English, and a coordinator of the collaborative research centre on literature and anthropology, both at Konstanz University.

Marion holds degrees in English Literature and Language and in Latin from the Universities of Bonn and Konstanz, was a research associate at the Centre for British Studies, Humboldt University Berlin, and holds a Master of Studies in Research Methods and a DPhil, both from the University of Oxford. She was awarded a British Academy Award and held a Postdoctoral Fellowship at Harris Manchester College, University of Oxford.

Dr. Ergün Özgür is a postdoctoral researcher at Leibniz-Zentrum Moderner Orient (ZMO), Berlin. She holds a bachelor’s degree in Public Administration and Political Science, masters’ degrees in Global Politics and International Relations and in Banking, and a Ph.D. in Organizational Behaviour from Marmara University. Between 2012 and 2015, she was an Assistant Professor at the departments of International Relations and of Business Administration at Cyprus International University, Nicosia. She then held postdoctoral positions at Université catholique de Louvain, Belgium, and the Käte Hamburger Kolleg in Bonn before moving to ZMO. Her research interests centre on culture, identity, ethnicity, exile, migration, values, and the Caucausus region. She currently researches the “Adaptation of Muslim and non-Muslim immigrants from Turkey and multicultural policy implementations in three European countries (different ethnic and religious groups)”, planning to expand her research to further countries.

Dr. Myriam Poll is a Programme Director in the Scientific Affairs Department at the German Research Foundation (DFG). Together with her team she is in charge of coordinating the international research funding activities in the department.

After she joined the DFG in 2009 she worked for several years in the Research Careers section with a focus on graduate programs and collaborations with Western Europe, Asia, Australia and Oceania. A biologist by training, she served from 2015 to 2017 as a subject specialist in the Life Sciences.

Prior to joining the DFG, her professional experience focused on research and science management: She worked for an NGO and the Institute for Snow and Avalanche Research (SLF) in Davos. Myriam holds a Doctor of Science in Ecology from the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology (ETH) Zurich, and a degree in biology from Bielefeld University.

Victoria Reichl has been the Deputy Director of the European Liaison Office of the German Research Organisations (KoWi) and director of KoWi’s Brussels Office since 2016.

KoWi is the joint service platform of the German research organisations united in the „Association for the Promotion of European and International Cooperation in Science e.V.“. KoWi is financed by the German Research Foundation (DFG) with offices located in Bonn and Brussels.

The Brussels Office of KoWi is specialized in European collaborative research funding. Furthermore, it observes the funding landscape in the “European framework programmes for research and innovation” for researchers and research managers in Germany. Victoria is a political scientist by training and a specialist for European research policy. Before working for KoWi, she held different positions at the Brussels Office of the German Railways and the Goethe Institute in Munich and Cairo.

Robert Quinn is the Executive Director of Scholars at Risk (SAR), a network of higher education institutions and individuals in over 40 countries whose mission is to protect threatened scholars and promote academic freedom. SAR’s primary activity is to arrange temporary academic positions at participating institutions for scholars facing grave threats, so they can keep working and their ideas are not lost. SAR also provides advisory services for scholars and institutions, campaigns for scholars imprisoned or silenced in their countries, monitors attacks on higher education worldwide (publishing an annual Free to Think report), and provides leadership in deploying strategies for promoting academic freedom, including Dangerous Questions, a new online course on academic freedom and why it matters not just to academics, but to everyone.

Dr. Petra Roth is Head of the International Scholars and Welcome Office, which is part of the International Affairs department at Karlsruhe Institute of Technology (KIT).

Her main responsibilities include the strategic development of internationalization at KIT, with emphasis on the advancement of international researchers’ mobility, comprising professional and individualized support for incoming scholars including threatened researchers; the promotion of international researchers’ participation in the scientific community at KIT; and liaising between KIT and its research alumni.

Her previous positions in research management included responsibilities for EU-research programs, technology transfer, coordination of cooperation with Latin America and developing interna-
Dr. Korinna Strobel is head of the strategy department of the Helmholtz head office in Berlin. After studying Rhetoric, Psychology and History at the University of Tübingen, she joined the Leibniz Institut für Wissensmedien, a media psychology research center. Korinna Strobel obtained a Ph.D. degree in rhetoric from the University of Tübingen. She served as a program officer for the Helmholtz Association’s intramural funding schemes for a number of years and then headed the team responsible for quality assurance in higher education at the University of Rostock. In her current position, she is among other things responsible for the Helmholtz Association’s talent management activities.

Dr. Hans-Christian Pape is the President of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation.

Following a doctorate in biology and medical neuroscience from the University of Essen, he was a postdoctoral researcher at the State University of New York at Stony Brook and at Yale University, funded by a German Research Foundation (DFG) fellowship. After his habilitation in physiology at Ruhr Universität Bochum, he was professor and director of the Institute of Physiology at the University of Magdeburg, before moving to the University of Münster, where he is the head of the Medical Faculty’s Institute of Neurophysiology.

He is a leading expert in the neurophysiological foundations of emotional behavior, especially on anxiety and anxiety-related disorders, fear and fear memory as well as the processes regulating sleep and wakefulness. Among his many distinctions are the DFG’s Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz Prize and the Max Planck Research Award. He is a member of the German National Academy of Sciences Leopoldina and served on the German Council of Science and Humanities. He has been a member of national and international committees for the promotion of science and authored numerous academic and science policy publications, for which he received distinctions such as the Kussmaul Medal of the German Society for Rheumatology.

An alumnus of the German National Academic Foundation, he studied biology at the universities of Bielefeld and Bonn and was a Fulbright Fellow at the University of Colorado in Boulder, USA. He worked on his doctoral dissertation at the Max Planck Society’s Friedrich Miescher Laboratory and obtained his doctorate from Tübingen University.

Dr. Enno Aufderheide is the Secretary General of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation. He previously held positions at the German Aerospace Centre, served as head of the Research Department at the German Council of Science and Humanities, as executive director of the "Science" Section at the Helmholtz Association, and as head of the Research Policy and External Relations Department at the Max Planck Society. He also managed the Minerva Foundation for the promotion of German-Israeli academic cooperation.

He has been a member of national and international committees for the promotion of science and also authored numerous academic and science policy publications, for which he received distinctions such as the Kussmaul Medal for the German Society for Rheumatology.

An alumnus of the German National Academic Foundation, he studied biology at the universities of Bielefeld and Bonn and was a Fulbright Fellow at the University of Colorado in Boulder, USA. He worked on his doctoral dissertation at the Max Planck Society’s Friedrich Miescher Laboratory and obtained his doctorate from Tübingen University.

Prof. Dr. Hans-Christian Pape is the President of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation.

Following a doctorate in biology and medical neuroscience from the University of Essen, he was a postdoctoral researcher at the State University of New York at Stony Brook and at Yale University, funded by a German Research Foundation (DFG) fellowship. After his habilitation in physiology at Ruhr Universität Bochum, he was professor and director of the Institute of Physiology at the University of Magdeburg, before moving to the University of Münster, where he is the head of the Medical Faculty’s Institute of Neurophysiology.

He is a leading expert in the neurophysiological foundations of emotional behavior, especially on anxiety and anxiety-related disorders, fear and fear memory as well as the processes regulating sleep and wakefulness. Among his many distinctions are the DFG’s Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz Prize and the Max Planck Research Award. He is a member of the German National Academy of Sciences Leopoldina and served on the German Council of Science and Humanities. He has been a member of national and international committees for the promotion of science and authored numerous academic and science policy publications, for which he received distinctions such as the Kussmaul Medal for the German Society for Rheumatology.

An alumnus of the German National Academic Foundation, he studied biology at the universities of Bielefeld and Bonn and was a Fulbright Fellow at the University of Colorado in Boulder, USA. He worked on his doctoral dissertation at the Max Planck Society’s Friedrich Miescher Laboratory and obtained his doctorate from Tübingen University.

Dr. Enno Aufderheide is the Secretary General of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation. He previously held positions at the German Aerospace Centre, served as head of the Research Department at the German Council of Science and Humanities, as executive director of the “Science” Section at the Helmholtz Association, and as head of the Research Policy and External Relations Department at the Max Planck Society. He also managed the Minerva Foundation for the promotion of German-Israeli academic cooperation.

He has been a member of national and international committees for the promotion of science and also authored numerous academic and science policy publications, for which he received distinctions such as the Kussmaul Medal for the German Society for Rheumatology.
Katja Machacsek is a Programme Officer for the Philipp Schwartz Initiative at the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation. She supports universities and research institutions hosting or planning to host threatened foreign researchers. Prior to this, she worked for six years in the Foundation’s international research marketing programme for the promotion of research alumni relations. Katja holds a university degree in translation from the University of Heidelberg.

Katharina Poth started working for the Europe Division in the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation’s Sponsorship and Network Department before joining the team of the Philipp Schwartz Initiative as a Programme Officer in 2018. Previously, she studied at Maastricht University and holds a M.Sc. degree in Global Crime, Justice and Security from the University of Edinburgh.

Svetlana Strobel is a Programme Officer for the Philipp Schwartz Initiative at the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation. She supports universities and research institutions that host or are planning to host threatened researchers. Prior to this, she worked for the World Health Organization and for a US-based software company. Svetlana holds a degree in business administration from the University of Marburg.

Dr. Judith Wellen is head of the Strategy department at the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation and the Foundation’s Representative for External Relations. She served as head of the International Strategy Office at Humboldt Universität zu Berlin and as personal advisor to the president of the university. Previously, she was head of several executive training programs at the Goethe Institut.

Following studies in Tübingen, Dublin, Berlin and Madrid, she was an associated fellow of the German-French graduate school “Institutional Orders, Text and Symbols” at École Pratique des Hautes Études-Sorbonne, Paris, and Technische Universität Dresden. Wellen holds an M.A. in Art History and Cultural Anthropology from Humboldt Universität, and a Ph.D. with distinction in Art History from Freie Universität Berlin. Her numerous grants include a Ph.D. scholarship from the Cusanuswerk (Episcopal Scholarship Foundation). Her dissertation examined the relationship between art and politics, in particular the subject of political iconography in Early Modern Spain.

Dr. Barbara Sheldon is Head of Division for Strategic Planning and Managing Director of the Philipp Schwartz Initiative at the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation. She has been working in the field of research management for the last twenty years. Before joining the Foundation, she worked as personal assistant to the President of the University of Heidelberg and as a fundraiser for the German Academic Exchange Service. Barbara holds a Ph.D. in American Literature from the University of Erlangen-Nürnberg.

Dr. Nina Marsh is the Head of Internal Audit of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation. Before joining the Humboldt Foundation, her professional expertise focused on managing procurement processes in the public sector. In 2018, she received her doctorate in Medical Psychology from the University of Bonn, prior to which she completed trainings in general management at the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE), and the neuro-modulation of social behavior at the California Institute of Technology (Caltech).

Frank Albrecht is the Programme Director for the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation’s Philipp Schwartz Initiative. He previously served as the Foundation’s Senior Coordinator for Strategic Planning and as a Programme Officer for North America, Australia, New Zealand and Oceania. Before joining the Humboldt Foundation, he worked for United Nations Volunteers, a UNDP programme, and UK-based recruitment consulting company MRL Group. He holds an M.A. degree in Linguistics, American and German Literature from Bonn University.
The Scholars at Risk Germany Section and Outlook

The Scholars at Risk Germany Section

The SAR Germany Section represents German member institutions in the global SAR network. Starting out with 20 founding members in September 2016, the section has grown to close to 40 members. It is coordinated by the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation.

The SAR Germany website offers information for member institutions, other higher education institutions interested in supporting at-risk scholars and academic freedom, and at-risk scholars: https://www.humboldt-foundation.de/web/sar-germany-section-en.html

Contacts:
Dr. Barbara Sheldon
Managing Director Philipp Schwartz Initiative
Katja Machacek
Programme Officer Philipp Schwartz Initiative
Tel +49 228 833 182
E-Mail: schwartz-initiative@avh.de

Outlook

The 2020 Forum for Academic Freedom will take place on 9 and 10 March 2020.

The next calls for nominations for the Philipp Schwartz Initiative will be published in June and December 2019.

Media Policy

Kindly note that the Forum will be open to the press. In addition, the conference organisers will contract a photographer to document the event. Some meeting rooms and lecture halls will feature designated areas where filming and photography is prohibited, but not all photography or filming may be preventable. Photographs and recordings may be published by the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation or the joint convenors for the purpose of information and public relations work as well as on the Foundation’s internal social network. They will not be used for commercial purposes.

For questions regarding the Forum for Academic Freedom, please contact:

Alexander von Humboldt Foundation
Strategy and External Relations Department
Managing Director Philipp Schwartz Initiative:
Dr. Barbara Sheldon
barbara.sheldon@avh.de
Tel.: +49 (0) 228 833 109

Programme Director Philipp Schwartz Initiative:
Frank Albrecht
frank.albrecht@avh.de
Tel.: +49 (0) 228 833 122

Imprint

Programme
Forum for Academic Freedom by the Alliance of Science Organisations in Germany 2019

Overall responsibility:
Dr. Barbara Sheldon

Coordination and editorial work:
Frank Albrecht

Conference management and logistics:
con gressa GmbH, Berlin

Layout:
Grafikladen Berlin

Photo:
S.12, H. E. Anne-Marie Descôtes © F. de la Mure/ MEAE

Distributed exclusively to the participants of the Forum for Academic Freedom by the Alliance of Science Organisations in Germany 2019

Alexander von Humboldt Foundation
Jean-Paul-Straße 12
53173 Bonn
Germany
Tel.: +49 (0) 228 833 0
Fax: +49 (0) 228 833 199
Email: info@avh.de
Internet: www.humboldt-foundation.de

Bonn-Bad Godesberg 2019